Retail Price: $89

Hotsuits, the inventors of the "Heated Wetsuit" and series winner on last years "New Inventors" TV Program, are proud to announce a new addition to their range.

They have just finished developing a Heated Kidney Belt which can now turn your existing wetsuit into a Heated Wetsuit.

Tested on all leading brand wetsuits, the one size fits all Kidney Belt not only takes the chill off getting in the water but it will also keep you warm for up to 1 hour.

In addition, it allows you to wear a thinner more flexible wetsuit it even eliminates the need of owning both a winter 4/3mm and a summer 3/2mm wettie.

Another added bonus discovered by divers with back conditions is that it provides effective back support and the heat provided increases movement in the lower back muscles.

The Kidney Belt uses chemical heat packs that can be activated on command by pressing the activator button through your wetsuit, within seconds the heat pack temperature reaches 54 degrees Celsius.

The heat gets evenly distributed as it heats up the central core and generates blood flow to the rest of the body.

The best part about these heat packs is that they are a completely safe, portable, instantaneous re-usable heat source.

After each use simply boil the pack for 15 minutes to recharge it for the next use.

- Turns any wetsuit into a Heated Wetsuit!
- One size fits all. Stay warm in the water for up to 1 hour.
- Provides back support.
- Re-usable chemical heat packs.
- Press button activation.
