

wear HOTSUIT Heated Kidney Belt

Sick of wearing your nads/ovaries as earrings in winter? Why not try Hotsuits' Heated Kidney Belt, a surfing-specific, battery-powered heater you strap around your lower back to fight off the chill. The idea of jumping into the water with a battery was a little scary, but to the delight of our tester no one was electrocuted, and the heater worked so well that on the coldest, windiest, winter day Queensland could serve up (sorry), it was eventually ditched before heatstroke could kick in. The Hotsuit works best with a wetty – if you're in boardies you shouldn't be complaining about the cold – and warms the fine layer of water that is trapped between your skin and your suit. It takes a while to get used to the suction around your waist, but as you'll be surfing longer you'll have plenty more time to get used to it.

ASL RATING: ★★★★★

BEST FOR: Feeling like you've just wee-ed in your wettie

FOR MORE: www.hotsuits.com.au